'Profitour' 180 and 240 camera backpacks

Two with a large flap

The range of camera backpacks from Hama now includes two models that hold a considerable amount of equipment and also offer sophisticated details, namely the 'Profitour' 180 and 'Profitour' 240.

Both backpacks have adjustable hook-and-loop inner dividers that allow you to divide the storage space in the way that suits you; a lens support provides a secure hold for the camera.

The 'Profitour' 180 and the 'Profitour' 240 can accommodate one digital SLR camera and two digital SLR cameras respectively, together with lenses and additional accessories.

The backpacks are filled from the back, so the contents are well protected from pickpockets. If you look more closely at the spaces to stash items, you will find a padded tablet compartment on the inner back side, three inner compartments for batteries and filters, four inner compartments for memory cards, one zip compartment under the lid and one on it. On the outside there is a tripod holder and a means to attach hiking sticks or similar items on both sides.

The Profitour backpacks cut a fine figure in matters of ergonomics, with adjustable padded shoulder straps and waist belts, a back part with soft padding, and a carrying handle. The integrated rain cover provides reliable protection from the elements.
