For a watertight performance

Waterproof “Soundcup-D” Bluetooth speaker

Wireless music enjoyment. Send your playlist via Bluetooth to a speaker from a smartphone, tablet or notebook and unleash your inner DJ.

Whether you are at the beach, hiking on a rainy autumn day or sledging on the slopes, the fun never stops thanks to the new “Soundcup-D” fully waterproof 2-in-1 Bluetooth speaker from Hama, ready to make its debut at the IFA trade show.

Thanks to the “true wireless stereo” function, the sound can be divided between two individual speakers using a click system. Place the system anywhere in the room and enjoy genuine stereo sound.

Alternatively, the separate speakers can be individually connected to a device, for example two different music sources.

For maximum enjoyment, the system houses two powerful lithium-ion batteries and, with 10 watts per speaker, the sound performance really is something to shout about.

As an added bonus, the removable, ultra-flexible silicone case has a strap for hanging up the speaker so it can even be used in the shower.

The waterproof Bluetooth speaker including micro-USB charging cable is available in stores.
